ACS/Triwizard Technologies Search Engine

The ACS Committee has entered a collaborative arrangement with Triwizard Technologies ('TT'), based in India, to create a search engine for ACS members that accesses TT's database to provide analysis of international cricket, both men's and women's.

This is very much a work in progress and will gradually be expanded over time to include analysis of first-class, List A and List A T20 cricket for both genders. It is also anticipated that the range of searches will be expanded.

Access for the first six months will be free, after which a nominal annual fee will be charged, to enable the Association to recoup, over time, the significant investment it has made to this project.

This facility can now be accessed by clicking on the Search Engine in the side bar, or the Search tab in the new navigation in the archive section of the ACS website.

It is password-protected, so you will be asked to register. Members are encouraged to send comments to dbsearch@acscricket.com
