We are delighted to confirm an in-person event at the Civil Service Club, Whitehall, London on Tuesday 7 July. The plan for the day is that guests should arrive from 10.00am. Coffee, tea and water will be available. We will start at 10.30am with a welcome and introduction by Jeremy Lonsdale.

We then have a series of presentations confirmed from:

- Raf Nicholson interviewed by Peter Hardy on her forthcoming book 'The Women in Whites: A History of Women's Cricket in England'.
- Jeremy Lonsdale on his forthcoming book 'Patsy Hendren: A Different Kind of English Hero'.
- Philip Bailey interviewed by Peter Hardy on recent statistical developments.
- Richard Heller on his new book with Peter Osborne, 'Full Circle: A History of Cricket'

There will be chance to mix with fellow ACS members during lunch and there will also be a quiz and 'Heads and Tails' feature. We will aim to wrap up and close around 5pm.

We expect demand to be high and would ask you to book your place by responding to membership@acscricket.com and paying £28 to ACS, which will include entry to the event and a light lunch. A bar will be available at the Civil Service Club.
